

"Our heads are round so that thoughts can change direction." -Francis Picabia

Forecasting Fun FOR 2012

By Alison Heller

The wind whistles down an empty boardwalk. An occasional pedestrian pulls his coat a little tighter as he walks the quiet two-mile stretch of boards. It is the off-season and at first listen, everything seems silent.

Then, through the wind carries the sound of a jackhammer, the pitchy voices of a chorus of drills. At Morey's Piers, life is anything but calm. This summer, new attractions will take the boardwalk by storm!

Ride the tides with RipTide and two new waterpark attractions. The Sea Dragon has been replaced with a new model of the same ride. This version, called RipTide, features uniquely Wildwood theming as a lifeguard boat with Sunny C. Gull perched at the helm looking out for stormy seas.

Float for hours among waterfalls and geysers in River Adventure. The Lazy River at Raging Waters has been completely overhauled into an expedition for family fun! Enjoy beautiful rock formations. Relax in the grotto. Experience Raging Waters waterpark in an adventurous new way! At Ocean Oasis, race friends and family to a wet and wild finish on Wipeout!, a brand new six lane waterslide. Go head to head- head first on a mat- and try to get the best finish time! This thrilling new addition will give older generations a nostalgic feeling as it bears a striking resemblance to the ride that started it all in 1969- the original Giant Slide which bore the same name as the new water attraction.

The Giant Wheel got a lightning bright facelift with brand new lights. The entire wheel, including the center sun will be fully lit with energy efficient LEDs, creating a vibrant light show each night. With hundreds of patterns and infinite colors, the new lighting scheme will dazzle the night sky!

On Surfside Pier, a whirlwind of new family rides has blown in to delight the kid in all of us. Happy Feet seats up to 12 riders, swinging them to and fro like an ocean wave. Kang'A'Bounce packs up to 16 guests into kangaroo themed vehicles and sends them springing into action!

Get ready for sunny summer skies and gale force fun at Morey's Piers & Beachfront Waterparks in 2012!

Established Cape May Artist Neal McPheeters Brings Waterpark Renderings to Life for Morey's Piers

The Wildwoods, NJ – February 21, 2012 – It's hard to imagine what Raging Waters and Ocean Oasis will look like for the 2012 season with dust, dirt and bulldozers presently everywhere.

"With two new waterpark attractions in the works, we needed a solid vision to focus the construction efforts," said Jack Morey, Executive Vice President. "The artwork challenged the engineers and architects to bring it all to life."

Jack Morey commissioned Neal McPheeters, an accomplished local painter, to create high quality painted renderings of Morey's Piers two new waterpark attractions for 2012.

In 1994, McPheeters and his wife moved to Cape May where he began creating paintings depicting the beaches and wetlands along the Atlantic Ocean and Delaware Bay. They opened a gallery, Peter McPhee Fine Arts, in Stone Harbor in 2003.

"This project was a great opportunity to do a unique kind of landscape," said Neal McPheeters.

The painted renderings will be used in the general brochure for 2012 and will be displayed in the Morey's Piers offices.